TOWN BOY MEETS DEATH IN WATER

Charles Lentz, Son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lentz, of Stratton Street, Drowns in Western Town. Cause of Accident Unknown.

Charles Lentz, son of J. A. Lentz, engineer at the plant of the Gettysburg Ice and Storage Company, was drowned on Sunday at Plainfield, Iowa. How the accident occurred is not known, a telegram merely announcing the fact of his death having been received here this morning.

The young man, who was unmarried, was aged about 22 years and lived here until about three years ago when he moved to Plainfield. He had been engaged in farming there ever since and was getting along nicely. It is supposed that he was out on some pleasure trip, either boating or swimming, on Sunday when some accident occurred and death followed. His family here were greatly shocked when the sudden news came telling of his tragic end.

His father, J. A. Lentz, lived in the vicinity of Bendersville and was a farmer until about four years ago when he came here to take up work at the plant of the Gettysburg Ice and Storage Company, which position he has filled ever since. The boy came here with his parents but only stayed a year. He was a member of the Battlefield Council 414 Order of Independent Americans.

Surviving him are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lentz and the following brothers and sisters, Robert Lentz, of Centralia, Washington; Viola, Nellie, Raymond, Arthur and May Lentz all living at home on Stratton street.

The body will be brought here for burial but when the funeral will take place is not yet known.

WHITE RUN

White Run, June 20—Mrs. Allen Fisel has returned to her home in this place after spending a week at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Kime, of Washington, D. C.

One day last week Charles Gilbert's housekeeper, Miss Baker, made a pie from a jar of gooseberries that were canned by Mr. Gilbert's daughter, seven years ago. Mr. Gilbert says that the pie was as good as if the berries had just been picked from the stalks.

Mrs. William Sachs and daughters, Viola and Luella, of Two Taverns, spent one day last week in this place.

C. W. Bucher, wife, and son, Dean, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bucher, of Alloways.

Dr. Rufus Snyder, of New Oxford, and brothers, John and Henry Snyder passed through this place on an automobile trip.

Daniel Fisel, of Westminster, spent Saturday and Sunday at the home of Allen Fisel of this place.

BOYS GO CAMPING

Forty boys, members of "The Boys' Club" of St. James Lutheran church, left town this morning on their march to Knoxllyn where they will encamp for the remainder of the week under the chaperonage of Rev. Joseph B. Baker. The "Boys' Club" is an organization effected by Rev. Mr. Baker since his installation as pastor at St. James. Its popularity was especially manifested this morning by the envious eyes of other youngsters when the members were grouped around the church ready to start. The boys made an attractive sight as they marched down the street in their khaki uniforms and between smiles discussing the best bait for "catties and sunnies."

RAISING ALFALFA

William H. Johns exhibited at the Times office some large stalks of alfalfa from his eight acre field which he is cultivating. Some of the stalks are six feet in height and several are on exhibition in our office measuring more than that. Mr. Johns reports his entire crop in fine condition. He will cut it shortly and expects to get one or two more crops from his fields this Summer.

THE NEXT GAME

The Sunday School base ball league is arousing a great deal of enthusiasm among the fans in town and the attendance at the games this summer will be very large if the interest continues. The next game will be played on Tuesday evening when the contending teams will be those from the Presbyterian and Reformed Sunday schools.

DEATH FOLLOWS WOUND ON KNEE

Earl Heller, of the Upper End of the County Dies in Chambersburg Hospital from Blood Poisoning.

Earl Heller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose M. Heller, living about two and a half miles northwest of Bendersville on the Pine Grove road, died in the Chambersburg hospital on Saturday evening from Blood Poisoning following a severe cut on the knee sustained several weeks ago. He was aged seventeen years.

Mr. Heller was engaged in the woodland of Charles McDannell in Franklin township, along the Chambersburg pike when the accident occurred. In some manner the ax slipped and his knee cap was cut very severely inflicting an ugly and very painful wound. He was given preliminary treatment by Dr. Merriman of Arendtsville and was then taken to the Chambersburg hospital.

The young man got along very well for a time but later developed blood poisoning, and grew steadily worse, death resulting from the infection.

Besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose M. Heller, he is survived by four brothers and a sister, Melvin, Elmer, Martin, Harry and Eva Heller, all living near Bendersville.

Funeral Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock from his late home conducted by Rev. Mr. Floto. Interment in Bendersville cemetery.

MRS. MARY BECKER

Mrs. Mary Becker, widow of the late Jesse Becker, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Nathan Kessler, near Seven Valleys, Friday, June 17th, at 11 a. m. She was aged 80 years, 8 months and 1 day.

She is survived by five daughters and two sons. The daughters are Mrs. Henry Klindinst, of Hampton; Mrs. Henry Gliden, of New Oxford; Mrs. Nathan Kessler, of North Codorus township; Mrs. Henry Bowersox, of Jacobs Mill; and Mrs. Anthony Straubach, of New Sinseim and her sons, Urias Becker, of Hanover, and Jesse A. Becker, of Porter's Siding. Her husband died 43 years ago.

Funeral from her late home on Monday, June 20th. Services at the Porter's Church at 9.30 a. m. Interment in the Jefferson cemetery.

VICTOR KING McILHENNY

Victor King McIlhenney died at the home of Mrs. Mary Kugler, in Fairfield, Sunday morning about 11.00 o'clock from a complication of diseases at the age of 79 years, 4 months.

He is survived by two nieces, Mrs. Mary Kugler with whom he lived and Mrs. Nancy Gladhill, of Gettysburg.

Funeral Tuesday morning with services at the house at 9 o'clock, Rev. Mr. Dalzell, of the Presbyterian church will officiate. Interment in Evergreen cemetery, Gettysburg.

The pall bearers will be Aaron Musselman, Samuel Sanders, Christian Frey and Calvin Bream.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

A very enjoyable birthday party was given at the home of Mr. Frank Herbst, of near McKnightstown on June 18th, when their adopted daughter, Miss Emma L. attained her 18th birthday. She received many useful gifts and birthday cards. Among the gifts was a gift of a ten dollar gold piece presented her by Mr. Herbst given by Mrs. Herbst, now deceased, for her 18th birthday. The Directors of Poor and Steward presented her with a fine counterpane. After partaking of a bounteous dinner and spending several hours in social chat, the guests left for their homes, wishing Miss Emma many more such happy birthdays. Those present were, Mr. Frank Herbst, Miss Emma L. and Mary B. Herbst, Directors of the Poor Hanson W. Taylor, Edward Bream and Jacob Goodenberger, Mr. Harry Sheely, Steward at the Alms House, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kelly, Mr. and Mrs. Barney Walker and niece, Miss Bittner, of Somerset county and Mrs. Bonhammer, of York City.

DILLER FAMILY REUNION

A reunion of the descendants of Caspar Diller was held at New Holland, Lancaster County, Friday. The members of the Diller family in this vicinity who attended were Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Rudisill and daughter, Isabelle and Mr. and Mrs. Isaiah Diller and two sons, of New Oxford.

FOR SALE—Having purchased a lot of ground from Murray Sheads on Springs avenue with a view of erecting a house thereon, I offer for sale my house on Chambersburg street, which has all modern improvements—a hot water plant having been installed recently. Also a desirable lot corner of West and West Middle streets. E. E. Slaybaugh.

INAUGURATION A BIG EVENT

Committee Appointed by Board of Trustees, Faculty, Alumni and Students to Prepare for Inauguration of New President.

The inauguration of President-elect William A. Granville, of Gettysburg College is expected to take place in October and will be attended with elaborate ceremonies at which it is hoped to have a number of guests of prominence.

At the meeting of the board of trustees a committee of five was appointed to work in conjunction with committees from the faculty, the alumni and the student body. This combined committee will have charge of all the arrangements.

The committee from the board trustees consists of Rev. Dr. Charles M. Stock, of Hanover; Martin H. Buehler, of Pittsburg; John F. Dapp, of Harrisburg; Rev. Dr. Milton H. Valentine, of Philadelphia.

The committee from the faculty is Dr. P. M. Bickle and Rev. Prof. Charles H. Huber; from the alumni Charles S. Duncan, Esq. of Gettysburg, and William E. Stabler, of Lebanon; from the student body the presidents of the Senior and Junior classes, to be elected.

Representatives from other colleges and universities will likely be here in large numbers and the event will be a notable one in the history of Gettysburg College.

Dr. Granville has gone to the University of Minnesota where he will be one of the instructors at the summer school. Upon the completion of his work there he will come to Gettysburg to take up his active duties as president of the institution.

GOOD CROP REPORT

The two or three days of sunshine in the week just closed were worth a good many hundreds of dollars to the farmers of Pennsylvania, according to officials of the State Department of Agriculture who have received a number of week end reports from agriculture sections.

The sunshine ripened the fruit in many sections and brought to strawberries, cherries and other small fruits the "sunshine taste" which makes them so luscious, while it gave the corn a tremendous boost. The corn has had enough moisture, say reports made to Deputy Secretary of Agriculture A. L. Martin, and the hot, clear days caused it to make a notable advance. Considerable favorable effect was also had upon the wheat, which is getting along well.

The rains have caused the hay, clover and alfalfa crops to show big gains and if the next week or so is fair there will be no trouble about harvesting crops which will be pretty close to bampers.

In State Zoologist H. A. Surface's division reports indicate that farmers must look out for fungus growths and that a few days of hot, clear weather will bring out many more bugs. The bugs, says the zoologist, got an early start because of the fact that the spring was hot and they are reproducing at a rapid rate.

The rains, of course, have done away with danger of a drought for months and State Water Supply Commission reports show that springs in every section are flowing abundantly and that there will be plenty of water this summer in all sections. Fortunately the rains, while heavy, have not caused disastrous floods.

ELECT OFFICERS

The Epworth League of the Harrisburg district, in convention at Hanover, closed its work after selecting Waynesboro as the place of next meeting. The vote was unanimous. At the last session these officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President, W. R. Smucker, Littlestown; first vice president, C. C. Burgess, York; second vice president, Rev. H. C. Hinkle, Camp Hill; third vice president, Mrs. Rudolph, York; fourth vice president, Miss Sara Kreider, Harrisburg; corresponding secretary, Miss Harriet T. Root, York; recording secretary, Miss Ida G. Kast, Mechanicsburg; treasurer, Roy B. Eckert, Harrisburg; superintendent, Miss Emma E. Ewing, Harrisburg.

BASE BALL MEETING

The board of directors of the Sunday School Base Ball League will hold a business meeting in the Y. M. C. A. rooms this evening at 7 o'clock. Important business will be acted upon and a full attendance of the managers is urged.

With warm weather and a good hot sun the Civic Club sprinkler will have busy times during July and August keeping the streets of town in proper condition.

The work of laying the concrete at the Western Maryland is nearing completion. The improvement is very great. Seating capacity will be provided for about two hundred and all will be needed this summer.

Attention was called in these columns a day or two ago to the fact that concrete is recommended for making fence posts. We have since been informed that at a number of places in the county that material is used.

PEN-MAR OPENED SUNDAY

Popular Pen-Mar, after much work of renovation and improvement, opened Sunday, looking prettier and brighter than ever. This season it will truly be a mountain Coney Island, owing to the many new attractions. For months a large force of workmen have been hard at work and the hotel, dining rooms, dancing pavilion and other large buildings have been painted in a pretty combination of buff, offset with trimmings of olive green, producing a rich and restful effect. The dancing pavilion has been improved with increased seating capacity and a larger stand for the orchestra. The big auditorium has also been put in condition for the big reunions to be held there during the summer.

TWO STABLES BURNED

Fire caused by lightning which struck the stable of G. W. Lady in the rear of Steinwehr avenue during this afternoon's severe electrical storm completely destroyed that building and the stable of Washington Harner adjoining. The contents were saved by George Beck, of Hanover, and Emory Rosensteel, of this place. Owing to the telephones being out of service no alarm was turned in for ten minutes after the fire started and it was twenty minutes from the time the fire started until water was gotten on the blaze.

THURMONT HEARD FROM

Rejoicing over the starting last week of its new electric light plant, Thurmont, Frederick county, lays claim to the distinction of being the best lighted town in Maryland. The plant, operated by water power from a stream running alongside the town, is the property of the town corporation, and has just been completed. Reporting the effect of the turning on of the current for the first time the Catoclin Clarion, published at Thurmont, says:

"Everyone was enthusiastic on the subject, and it was such a great innovation for the old town that one almost had to ask oneself 'where am I at?' You missed the funny feeling of running amuck on some old pavement, and your being in constant apology with someone for running afoul of him."

In addition to being the best lighted, Thurmont claims to be the "best painted and best paved" town in Maryland.

MASSACHUSETTS MILK.

State Grange in Active Opposition to Boston Milk Contractors.

The dairy farmers of Massachusetts who supply the Boston market with milk do not believe that they are receiving a fair and reasonable price for their product and for some time have been holding back shipments. This has caused the Boston milk contractors to send their agents into adjoining states to procure milk for their city patrons. At this point the Massachusetts state grange executive committee got into action and trained its batteries on the milk contractors by invoking the assistance of every subordinate and Pomona grange of the state to support loyalty and to the full limit the milk producers of their section who are standing firm in this fight and to offer to such producers encouragement and support. It was also voted that the state master be advised to communicate with masters of state granges in New York and Vermont, explain to them the situation in Massachusetts and ask them to use every possible means to discourage the shipment of milk from farms in those states to places in Massachusetts where the present crisis exists.

Both states responded by advising every subordinate grange in their jurisdiction to refuse to furnish any milk for Boston contractors until "fair and reasonable" prices are offered Massachusetts dairymen, with what effect cannot at this writing be learned.

A GRANGE VICTORY.

Massachusetts Did Not Remove the Protective Law on Birds.

The National Stockman remarks that the most distinct victory in legislation which the granges of Massachusetts have ever accomplished was seen in the defeat of house bill No. 395, which proposed to let down the bars on the present excellent bird law of Massachusetts and permit spring shooting of seven different bird species.

This bill had tremendous backing, including practically all the sporting interests of the state, and up to April 1 there was every indication that it would win out, especially when the legislative committee on fisheries and game reported unanimously in its favor. But toward the last the friends of the birds throughout the state became aroused, and nearly every subordinate and Pomona grange in Massachusetts took action in behalf of the birds. Letters by the thousands were written to the representatives at the statehouse, while the state was fairly flooded with literature.

On the morning of the debate it was a general topic of conversation around the statehouse that grange influence on legislation was to be given a good test that day in view of the active position the Order had taken in the matter. The debate lasted nearly all day and was very spirited, resulting in a victory for the birds by a roll call vote of 122 to 85 and the complete defeat of the fisheries and game committee. State Master Charles M. Gardner was one of the most vigorous defenders of the birds and spoke on the floor very earnestly against any letting down of the present protective law on birds, which are so essential to agricultural success and progress.

National Master to Address Meeting. On June 18 Columbia county (N. Y.) Pomona grange will meet at the home of L. L. Morrell of Kinderhook. National Master Bachelder and Professors Jordan and Hedrick of the Geneva experiment station will be the speakers. Mr. Morrell owns a large fruit farm on which are over 3,000 apple trees, 5,800 cherry trees, 2,000 pear trees and 700 plum trees.

SEPARATED 20 YEARS THEY HUNT MOTHER

Three Children, Reunited, Pledge Every Effort to Find Her.

Trenton, N. J., June 20.—The reuniting of himself with his long lost sister, Mrs. James Connolly, of Philadelphia, and his other sister, Mrs. Charles Stewart, of this city, which was done after twenty years' separation in their youth, and the renewed efforts of the three children to find their mother, who was obliged to place them in an institution in Philadelphia more than twenty years ago because a father roamed from his family, forms an interesting human life story that came out here.

Mrs. Stewart was taken from the institution by a Polish family of this city and had to learn English when her sweetheart came into her life here. Mrs. Connolly was taken out of the institution by a Philadelphia family. The brother, Daniel Duffy, Jr., went to a farmer in Binghamton, N. Y., but ran away. He found his sister here last week and learned of the one in Philadelphia, and they had a reunion here.

The mother is seemingly lost, but redoubled efforts will be made to find her.

The father is known to have been killed in a railroad accident two years ago, and the mother was either in New York or Philadelphia four years ago, supporting herself by needlework.

NAVAL LOOT IN PAWN SHOPS

Government Seizes Uniforms and Blankets Taken From Ships.

Norfolk, Va., June 20.—Government agents recovered from two Church street pawn offices more than $500 worth of navy uniforms and other things alleged to have been stolen in the last few weeks from the battleships at the Norfolk navy yard. The goods were seized and warrants were issued for the pawnbrokers.

Man Killed on Auto Joy Ride.

Trenton, N. J., June 20.—George Richardson, of Walnut avenue, one of three men who were joy riding in an automobile here, was killed in consequence of a wheel of the machine breaking down. Richardson was thrown on his head and his skull was fractured. He died while being taken to a hospital.

Penna. Encampment S. of V. Opens.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., June 20.—The state encampment of the Sons of Veterans was formally opened here as Camp A. C. Laning. Two thousand members of the organization are now under canvas. Mayor Kniffen delivered an address of welcome. The camp this year is under the command of Colonel W. P. Baker, of Bethlehem, Pa.

Occasions often arise when it is necessary that a family observe rather rigid economy to make both ends meet. When that time comes the good wife should not be the only one expected to practice the virtue. It should eliminate the smoking tobacco as well as a new spring bonnet.

There be many supposedly respectable people who wouldn't steal their neighbor's purse or sheep who fall down when it comes to the most involved in palming off beef suet for butter fat. This is just the same kind of dishonesty, only smaller and more

RAILROAD BILL BECOMES A LAW

The President Was Quick to Sign It.

STATEHOOD FIGHT ENDS

The House Agreed to Senate Amendments and Measure Now Goes to the President.

Norwich, N. Y., June 20.—A heavily loaded immigrant train on the Ontario & Western railway, northbound, running as section No. 5, the Chicago limited, collided with a light engine, southbound, at Parker, sixteen miles south of this village, and three passengers were killed and about twenty-five injured, six of the latter seriously.

The immigrant train was running at about thirty miles an hour up a heavy grade, and met the light engine, coming down at about twenty-five miles an hour. The passenger train was made up of a heavy engine and eight coaches, loaded with 371 emigrants en route for the western states. When the collision occurred the head coach, an old one, immediately behind the engine, was telescoped, the tender of the engine passing half through the car.

The dead are: John Johanson, aged seventy years, en route from Sweden; Frank Glaser, aged eighteen years, from Switzerland; John Joseph Blank, aged forty years, from Switzerland.

The most seriously injured are: Eric Anderson, aged seventy-one years, of Sweden, leg broken and serious internal injuries; Mrs. Ivan Rutnick, a Slav, right ankle broken and internal injuries; young daughter of the latter, left arm broken; Mrs. Peter Zena, deep wound in hip; Percy Furnier, fireman on light engine, ankle crushed; B. F. Kingman, engineer on light engine, leg broken and bruised on the head.

News of the wreck came to this village and a relief train carrying physicians and assistants was sent out. The passengers were transferred and brought here, where the injured were cared for at the railroad Y. M. C. A., which was turned into a temporary hospital. After the claim agent of the railroad company had made settlement with the injured the train proceeded on its way.

John Johanson, one of the dead, was found in a rear seat of the demolished coach sitting erect and without a mark upon his body, having died from the shock.

The collision was due to Engineer Kingman's forgetting his orders to remain at Guilford Summit until both sections of No. 5 had passed. The light engine was forced a quarter of a mile back up the grade by the collision.

HARLAN TO QUIT BENCH

Will Resign From Supreme Court to Help Seat His Son.

Washington, June 20.—James S. Harlan, now a member of the interstate commerce commission and a son of Justice James Marshall Harlan, of the United States supreme court, was brought forward as a candidate for judge of the commerce court created by the railroad bill, which has now become a law.

The understanding here is that if James S. Harlan is appointed to the commerce court it will be by virtue of a deal by which the venerable Justice Harlan will retire from the supreme bench.

If that deal is carried through the president will then have two vacancies in the highest judicial body in the world, because the resolution to retire Justice Moody was reported favorably by both houses of congress.

Train Kills Two Boys.

Mamaroneck, N. Y., June 20.—William Greenwood, aged twelve years, and Alfred Greenwood, aged ten years, were killed on the New Haven railroad tracks just south of Mamaroneck. The boys were on their way to Sunday school and had stopped to play.

James G. Blaine, 3d, to Wed.

Newport, R. I., June 20.—James G. Blaine, 3d, son of Mrs. William T. Bull, of New York and Newport, will conclude his studies at Harvard next February, and in the early summer will be married to Miss Marion Dow.

contemptible, for it is practiced under the guise of an activity which is lawful and decent.

Some feeding experiments which have been conducted of late by the Iowa experiment station show that sugar beets and mangels favor the formation of calcium, or "stone," in the kidneys and bladders of breeding rams, in some instances fatal results occurring. The discovery would seem to indicate that it is not advisable to feed these roots to breeding sheep, either rams or ewes, as the results

KNOX OUT OF RACE FOR GOVERNOR

President Taft Influenced Him to Withdraw.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 20.—Information from Washington that Secretary of State P. C. Knox had declined to become a candidate for governor of Pennsylvania because President Taft had requested him to remain in the cabinet, but that otherwise he would have made the running, fell like a wet blanket over political Pittsburg. There had been prospects of one of the most important political upheavals in the history of Pennsylvania politics, and while Mayor William A. Magee, of Pittsburg, issues a very mild statement of regret that Knox cannot make the running, friends of Magee are outspoken in their belief that both United States Senators Penrose and Oliver made a personal request to President Taft that he call Knox off and that it was done.

Penrose had a long conference with President Taft while the latter was in Philadelphia Saturday, when it is thought the president was importuned to urge Knox to keep out of Pennsylvania politics at the present time. There is no doubt that the announcement of Knox that he will neither run nor accept the nomination if offered him is pleasing to the Republican leaders in Pennsylvania. This announcement practically makes Congressman John K. Tener, of Charleroi, next governor of Pennsylvania, since it is understood that Senator Penrose has settled on him, and that Tener is also a very close relative of United States Senator George T. Oliver, of Pennsylvania.

JEALOUS HUSBAND A SUICIDE

Attempted to Murder Wife and Then Swallowed Poison.

Atlantic City, June 20.—Lying in wait for his wife, who had been employed for several weeks at the Hotel Dennis, A. W. Strause, a barber, of Pottstown, Pa., first attempted to murder the woman and then committed suicide by swallowing carbolic acid in her rooms.

Jealousy of his wife, who had refused to live with him because of his dissolute habits, was the cause of the tragedy.

Strause tried to use a razor and a pair of shears on his wife when he suddenly confronted her as she entered her rooms in the servants' quarter of the hotel. She fought off her husband when he attempted to slash her with a razor and ran screaming when the crazed man drew the scissors from his pocket and tried to stab her.

COFFIN FROM HER OWN TREE

Woman Who Died at 106 Planted Walnut When Child.

Winchester, Va., June 20.—Mrs. Elizabeth Kerns, the oldest woman in this vicinity, died at her home, near Bloomery, aged 106 years. When a child she planted a walnut from which grew a large tree. Three years ago it was cut down and, at Mrs. Kerns' request, it was made into a coffin, in which she will be buried.

Bull Fights For Cuba.

Havana, June 20.—A bill legalizing the revival of bull fights has been favorably reported from committee to the house and is now awaiting further action. The bill gives a company, which is principally American, the exclusive concession for thirty years to operate a Monte Carlo on a tract near Camp Columbia, at which the attractions will be gambling games, bull fights, cock fights, horse races and other sports.

would doubtless be the same with both.

The western rancher is not bothered with Canada thistles or quack grass, but he has in his grain and alfalfa fields an annual, the fireweed, that causes him much annoyance. It grows to a height of from one to two feet and bears numerous yellow blossoms on a fiddle neck blossom stalk, the leaves being covered with numerous short spines, which, brittle and dry at haying and harvest time, irritate the skin as much as do fleas and chiggers.

NEITHER WAS JEALOUS

By F. TOWNSEND SMITH

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

"Frank," said Lucy to me, "marriage is a very serious matter."

"How did you find that out at eighteen?"

"I am much older at eighteen than some girls are at twenty-five. Now, there are certain faults my husband might possess which I would not be able to endure, but others wouldn't trouble me. Before we take the final step I propose to test you to discover if you have one especial fault that I am sure would separate us."

"But if you tell me you're going to test me isn't that giving away the whole thing?"

"My object in telling you beforehand is that I shall have to seem to act wrongfully to you. I shall be able to tell you that I had an object. You understand?"

"Certainly. And I suppose that I had better tell you that I'm going to test you, too, so that if I behave badly you'll understand."

"H'm! I supposed when you told me that I was far too good for you you meant it."

"And I supposed that when you said I was the best fellow in the world and you were proud to be loved by?"

"Don't be silly. I sometimes think that you at twenty-three are younger than I am at eighteen. How are you going to test me?"

"How are you going to test me? I mean what for?"

She did some very hard thinking in that youthful head of hers and then said: "It won't do any harm if I tell you I'm going to make you jealous. Jealousy separates more married couples than any other cause."

"Did you get that from a statistician?"

"Now you're talking absurd again."

"Very well; go ahead; make me jealous. But I warn you that your plan will be a failure. Suppose you succeed?"

"In that case I shall consider that it wouldn't be safe to marry you."

"I shall test you for the same fault. But if I don't succeed I shall consider that it won't be safe to marry you."

"Why not?"

"It will indicate that you don't love me. No one can love another without jealousy."

"Except having perfect confidence in that other."

"Very well. We'll try it."

And we did try it with a vengeance. When we came together again we resumed our dialogue.

"It's all over between us," said Lucy, both sad and angry.

"Didn't I stand the test?" I asked in an injured tone.

"I should think not. You haven't spoken a word to me for a week."

"I was testing you."

"Was it necessary to test me by constantly sailing past here with that one girl—a girl you know I despise?"

"It wouldn't be any test to flirt with two."

"I flirted with half a dozen."

"It wasn't for me to tell you how to test a fiancee."

"I should think not. I couldn't have acted on your advice if it was to act as scandalously as you have acted."

"It seems to me that I have stood your test and you haven't stood mine."

"Do you call it a test to select a girl like that and go about all the while with her looking as if you were about to kiss her? It was disgusting."

"And didn't you go about looking up lovingly at Scrimser? I didn't care for the other fellows—they were blonds. Scrimser was the real thing."

"I'm glad I have him to fall back upon now it's all over with you."

"And I suppose Camilla will help me out."

"I wish you to understand that no man to whom I am engaged shall pay the slightest attention to such a girl."

"Not for a test?"

"Not on any account. I consider it an insult to me. If you had taken some of the other girls, such as Grace or Alice or Bess?"

"No one of those girls would do for a test. Grace is homely as a hedge fence. Alice is cold as an icicle, and as for Bess—"

"They are all at least to be respected."

"Yes, and they are your friends. They're so much to be respected that they wouldn't take your fiancee away from you, because—"

"Because?"

"Both you and they know they couldn't."

I was getting tired of this and resolved to bring it to a close.

"I say, Lucy, I am delighted at the success of my test on you."

"Delighted?"

"Yes. Didn't I tell you that love begets jealousy?"

"Jealousy? You flatter yourself if you suppose you can make me jealous of that creature."

"I am awfully jealous of Scrimser."

"Because he is such a perfect gentleman, I suppose."

"He wouldn't kiss and tell, I admit. Come; we've each tested the other with remarkable success—that is, we've proved we love each other."

I took her in my arms. She was mollified.

"I knew you loved me," I said. "The test didn't amount to anything, though. You weren't jealous, were you?"

"Certainly not!"

"Nor was I."

Constipation

"For over nine years I suffered with chronic constipation and during this time I had to take an injection of warm water once every 24 hours before I could have an action on my bowels. Happily I tried Cascara, and today I am a well man. During the nine years before I used Cascara I suffered untold misery with internal piles. Thanks to you, I am free from all that this morning. A Wonderful Cure
My hair was getting quite gray and falling out rapidly, and I was troubled with a terrible itching of the scalp. My head was full of dandruff. I heard of your Sage and Sulphur for the hair. I got a bottle and used it and almost at once was benefited by it. A few applications relieved the itching, my hair stopped falling out and gradually came back to its natural color. It is now a nice dark brown color, soft, glossy and pliable.

COL. ROOSEVELT SEEKS PRIVACY

Will Meet Reporters Twice a Week in New York.

LODGE AND MEYER HIS GUESTS

Massachusetts Senator and Secretary of Navy Visited Ex-President on Sunday.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 20.—Privacy, that's the word. Absolute, impenetrable, double riveted, non-leakable, continuous and all pervasive privacy, with only two loopholes a week. That was the gist of a very courteous but very crisp few moments of conversation on the part of Colonel Roosevelt. What he does, what he thinks, how he amuses himself, whom he receives, three and several other items about which the public has been accustomed to have a fair working knowledge, are to become known only at the bi-weekly chat which he will submit to. And those are to be held in the office of the Outlook, where he will begin his editorship in person on Wednesday.

But notwithstanding this reticence in details, the colonel made no effort to convey the impression that in his capacity as a private citizen he has abjured the society of public men. Senator Lodge was a house guest at Sagamore Hill over Sunday and Secretary of the Navy Meyer dropped in for an evening's talk. Whether it will become knowledge who are the visitors of note who visit him subsequently is purely problematical.

These impressions were gained when the ex-president came out on his veranda to receive several inquiring callers. His last word to them in answer to a question about his African trip was this: "I shan't have anything to say, ever."

Protests Against Intrusion.

The colonel began his protests of reticence as soon as he came within hearing distance. "Now, gentlemen," said he, "I really haven't anything to say on any subject whatever. I don't want to have anybody getting into the habit of coming here with the idea that I am going to talk—for I'm not going to do it at all."

"Twice a week I intend to go into New York, and I will be at the Outlook office. That is the only place that I shall receive callers who want me to say anything."

"What are your plans for the next few days?" he was asked.

"Beyond going into town for my son's wedding and on Wednesday for my first visit to the Outlook office since I have been back, I haven't anything to tell."

Senator Lodge was around the corner of the porch with Secretary Meyer, and their propinquity inspired the next question, which was: "Can you tell us what you have been doing today, colonel?"

"Now, that," he burst out, with some enthusiasm, "is just the kind of question I don't want to answer. My life here from now on is to be absolutely private. If I began telling about things the result would be that I shouldn't have any peace or rest or vacation all summer. I would be simply overruled all the time."

Talks With Senator Lodge.

In spite of the avowal which was made there are a few facts in regard to the way in which the colonel has spent his first day as a private citizen back from the hunt, that have in a measure sifted out. In the hours before church time word came down the hill that he and Senator Lodge were talking over the colonel's trip. His son-in-law permitted this impression to be borne. Also those who passed in the vicinity of the Roosevelt house declared that the ex-president could be seen pacing the piazza with some activity and that there were moments when Senator Lodge joined him.

Mr. Roosevelt attended church in the morning. Accompanying him were Mrs. Roosevelt, Mrs. H. A. Alexander, Miss Alexander, who is the fiancée of Theodore, Jr., that young man himself and his brother Quentin. In another automobile just behind were Ethel Roosevelt, Isabel S. Hager, Mrs. Roosevelt's secretary, and Archie Roosevelt.

Madrid, June 20.—A semi-official note intimates that if the Vatican insists upon coupling its protest against the royal decree, issued on June 11, with the negotiations to revise the Concordat, the government will break off all negotiations.

The royal decree authorizes the edifices of non-Catholic religious societies to display the insignia for public worship and other ceremonies.

Pennsylvania Shares In "Pork Barrel."

Washington, June 20.—Pennsylvania towns come in for some of the "pork" in an omnibus public buildings bill, carrying items aggregating $19,288,500, reported to the house. Gettysburg gets $100,000; Butler, $75,000; Corry, $65,000; and Harrisburg, $125,000 for repairs.

Only within the past few years has an adequate value been placed upon skim milk, yet it is a well known fact of chemistry that it contains virtually all of the casein (protein) of the whole milk, the butter fat removed in the cream being carbon and water. Practically all of the food value of skim milk may be removed in the shape of cottage cheese, also known as "schmierkase." The following recipe for making this appetizing food is recommended by the Nebraska experiment station: Allow the skim milk to become sour and curdled, then heat to

T. ROOSEVELT, JR., WILL WED TODAY

Son of ex-President to Marry Miss Eleanor Alexander.

New York, June 20.—Arrangements for the marriage of Miss Eleanor Butler Alexander, only daughter of Mrs. Henry Addison Alexander, to Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., are complete. The ceremony will take place this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church, at Fifth avenue and Fifty-fifth street. Invitations have been issued to as many persons as the church will hold, and no one will be admitted without a card.

Among the guests will be Colonel Roosevelt, who will give his son away, and Mrs. William H. Taft.

Miss Alexander's attendants will be Mrs. Snowden A. Fahnestock, formerly Miss Elizabeth Bertrou, at whose wedding, recently celebrated, Miss Alexander was the chief bridesmaid; also the Misses Harriet and Janetta Alexander, her cousins; Miss Jean W. Delano and Miss Jessie Millington-Drake, of Paris. Kermit Roosevelt will be his brother's best man, and the ushers will be Messrs. George Emilen Roosevelt and Monroe Douglas Robin son, cousins of Mr. Roosevelt; Francis Roche, Hamilton Fish, Jr., Fulton Cutting, John W. Cutler, Grafton Chapman, Eliot Cutler and E. Morgan Gilbert.

The florists have elaborately decorated the church. There are many pink and white blossoms, roses, lilies of the valley and peonies. The main aisle is entirely in white, and there are clusters of roses and lilies at each pew. The scheme extends to the altar, the steps of which are carpeted with lilies of the valley and bride roses. The prie dieu of white satin is festooned with bride roses, and above the prie dieu is an arch of white flowers.

HORSEBACK WEDDING

Unique Ceremony Was Performed at Los Angeles, Cal.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 20.—A wedding on horseback, with bride, groom, minister, maids of honor, the flower girls and guests all mounted on their own steeds, was held at Griffith park, and after the ceremony the newly married couple left on an extended honeymoon trip on horseback.

Miss Evelyn Baker, the bride, and George Morse, the bridegroom, are members of the Out West Riding club, and almost all of the guests were club members.

The clergyman had a black steed and the flower girls appeared on shetland ponies. All wore riding costumes of western type.

THREE DEAD IN RAILROAD WRECK

Engineer forgets Orders and Collision Follows.

TWENTY-FIVE ARE INJURED

Light Locomotive Crashes Into an Immigrant Train on the Ontario & Western Head On.

Washington, June 20.—Administration supporters are jubilant over their successful fight for the railway bill. President Taft signed the bill shortly before midnight Saturday and it became a law immediately.

The final fight was waged in the house on Saturday, much time being saved by an agreement to limit the time of debate to one hour and forty minutes.

Mr. Mann then offered to answer such questions as might be propounded by his members of the house.

The stock and bond investigation commission he explained to Representative Fitzgerald, of New York.

Following Representative Mann, Representative Lenroot (Insurgent Republican of Wisconsin) announced that, although he disapproved of certain features of the bill, he was for it as a whole.

Representative Adamson, senior minority member of the interstate commerce committee, announced that he would vote against the bill, although as it stood it was superior to anything the Democrats had hoped for.

Representative Richardson, of Alabama, and Representative Bartlett, of Georgia, also spoke in opposition to the bill.

Representative Townsend (Rep.), of Michigan, told the house that the bill was all right, and then the conference report was adopted and the bill sent to the White House for the signature of the president.

Final action on statehood legislation was accomplished with even greater ease. By reason of pressure from the White House opposition to the acceptance of the senate amendments to the statehood bill was almost entirely dissipated. The Democrats were induced to forego their objection through the judicious circulation of a report that if the bill went into conference it might not emerge during the present session. Chairman Hamilton, of the house committee on territories, at once realized that the only way to put the legislation through and not delay the present session was to agree to the senate amendments, and he welcomed the administration's assistance. The statehood bill now goes to the president.

GUFFEY WOULDN'T OBJECT

Would Like to See Party Clear Its Skirts by a Recall.

Pittsburg, Pa., June 20.—It is stated in well informed quarters that another Democratic state convention would not be altogether unwelcome to Colonel James M. Guffey, of Pittsburg, who has felt keenly the criticisms of an alleged Munson deal with United States Senator Penrose to bind and gag the Democratic party in Pennsylvania this fall.

Colonel Guffey is back home, and is not talking for publication; but it is stated that he would throw no stones in the way of another convention, if enough delegates get together to call one.

An interesting story in connection with the rumored movement for another Democratic convention is the statement that the anti-Penrose Republicans, should they finally fail to secure Secretary Knox's consent to run for governor of Pennsylvania, or should the Penrose crowd succeed in keeping Knox off the ticket by other means, might be induced to join a fusion movement. This could most easily be accomplished if the Democrats named a man agreeable to the independent Republicans.

KNIFE FOR KAISER'S KNEE

Slight Operation Performed to Relieve Local Trouble.

Berlin, June 20.—Professor Bier used a knife on the emperor's knee in the presence of his body physicians, Drs. Von Ilberg and Niedener. According to the usually well informed Lokal Anzeiger, the inflammation proved of a similar character to that on the wrist three weeks ago. It took the form of a furuncle, containing pus. The operation, which consisted simply of lancing the abscess, was considered slight, and his majesty was able later to participate in the family dinner at the palace.

Lightning Wrecks Statue.

Philadelphia, June 20.—Struck by lightning during a severe storm, the statue of Father Matthew, erected by the Catholic Total Abstinents' Union of America at the east side of the big fountain in Fairmount park, was demolished. The lightning, which was attracted by the wires of a withered wreath hanging from the arm of the great apostle of temperance, shattered the left side of the figure, while the head was cut off and hung by a shred of metal from the shoulders.

The cheese will be. Adding to the curd about one-tenth its volume of rich cream greatly improves the flavor of the cheese, together with sufficient salt to season.

Selecting the Cow.

Points in selecting a cow: If you are buying a cow, look for a long under lengthwise of her body, very elastic, as this invariably means milk; a soft skin, large, roomy digestive organs, with broad ribs wide apart.

EXERCISE CARE IN SELECTING BOAR.

The selection of the boar is very important, and it is the opinion of the writer that some farmers do not have as much success as they should and could have in raising hogs simply because they do not exercise the care necessary in selecting the male to be used in their herds.

The boar should be selected with greater care than the sows, for his influence equals the combined influence of all the sows of the herd. A superior boar may be used on a superior herd of sows with good results, but the use of an inferior boar on sows of high quality will have a disastrous outcome. The one method raises the standard of the herd; the other invariably lowers it.

A boar with male characteristics strongly developed should be selected, preferably as a yearling or else as a pig that has been purchased at the same time as the sows and allowed to come to maturity before being used. He should have a well erected neck and a strong masculine head. His shoulders should be developed according to his age. However, strong shoulder development in pigs under a year or eighteen months old is objectionable.

The boar should be selected to correct any defects that may be common to the sows. For example, if the sows are rather coarse in bone and loosely built the boar should have high quality and fine bones, skin and hair. If the sows tend toward overdevelopment and delicacy the boar should be rather rangy and strong boned.

The same indications of a good pork producing carcass that the sows require should be seen in the boar—a broad, straight, deeply fleshed back, much depth and length of sides and well developed hind quarters. The visible organs of the reproductive system should be well developed and clearly defined.

The boar should stand upon his toes, and there should not be the slightest indication of weakness in the pasterns of the young ones. In a matured boar (two or three years of age) that has seen hard service it may be expected that he will be a little down on his pasterns, but a six or eight months old pig that does not carry himself on up-right pasterns is not a safe animal to select for a herd boar.

Horse Notes.

The best customers want horses that have style, good appearance, that stand up, that are bright, sleek and attractive.

The floor of the hayloft should be seed and dust tight. Horses are often injured by seeds and dirt falling into their ears and eyes.

There is no kind of animal breeding that will pay better than the breeding of horses, but horses that will sell, not dunghills or misfits.

Bolting of food causes indigestion and consequently loss of health. Guard against irregular feeding. It tends to make horses bolt their food.

The hay usually given to horses to supplement the pasture is of very poor quality, either woody or moldy, and this results in a considerable loss.

Be Clean About the Dairy.

According to a successful dairyman, the presence of dirt in milk indicates careless and uncleanly methods in production and handling. Another common defect is off flavored milk, which may be due to a variety of causes, as feeding strong flavored foods, such as turnips, garlic, etc.; second, to feeding certain feeds to excess, as, for example, silage; third, to odors of silage or manure in the stable; fourth, to particles of manure and dirt getting into the milk, and, fifth, to not properly rinsing the bottles after using washing powders. Dairywomen, as a rule, have been quick to see these defects when pointed out and to appreciate the importance from a business standpoint of producing milk as nearly perfect as possible.

Keeping the Best Mares.
Good, big drafts seem to attract the most attention, and yet the perfect draft horse is hard to find in the average rural community. Extra fine young horses are picked up at good prices by buyers who want such stuff, and the farmer gets along with less valuable animals. That is all right for geldings, but the best young mares ought to remain on the farm.

THE GETTYSBURG NATIONAL BANK'S NEW BUILDING

"The Bank of Gettysburg was chartered as a State Bank April 29, 1814.

It was to have a capital of 7,000 shares of stock, of the par value of $50 a share, making its capital stock when paid in full $350,000.00. Its first Board of Directors met May 26, 1814.

Alexander Cobean was elected the first President and John B. McPherson the first Cashier. The business of the bank was conducted in the house of the cashier from the day the bank opened until April, 1909.

Nov. 16, 1864, the stockholders voted to change from a State to a National Bank. The new association is the Gettysburg National Bank.

The capital stock is $145,150, or 2,903 shares of the par value of $50 a share.

The charter is dated Nov. 1864. The first election was held Jan. 10, 1865, and William McSherry, Henry Wirt, Wm. D. Himes, Wm. Young, James J. Wills, George Swope, Lewis M. Motter, Marcus Sampson and David Kendlehart were elected the first Board of Directors. George Swope was elected President and J. D. Carson, Cashier.

The new bank is built on the lot of ground on which was located the original bank building. The lot fronts 60 feet on York street and runs back to an alley 181 1/2 feet. The ground was owned by John B. McPherson from 1814 to 1858, when it was purchased by the bank.

The new bank building is 45 feet front, 86 feet deep and 32 feet high to the apex. The exterior is built of Troy White Granite from New Hampshire. The front is four cut finish and the sides rock face.

The style is colonial, which is carried out in every detail, as also in its furnishings.

The building sets 7 feet back from the building line and 7 feet from the adjoining properties. The approach is by a portico. The portico is 25 feet long and 8 feet wide, and is formed by four shafts of white granite—monoliths having bases 2 feet 6 inches in diameter and being 22 feet 6 inches high and weighing 7 tons each. It is finished with a ceiling of portier panelled copper. The front doors are solid bronze—6 feet wide, 10 feet 6 inches high and weigh 500 pounds each.

There are two large windows in the front and four on each side 4 by 8 feet. The entrance to the building is through a vestibule of mahogany and glass—having two doors opening into the corridors. The front corridor is 9 feet 6 inches and the side corridors are 7 feet wide. The interior height of the ceiling is 22 feet. The working space of the bank is 27 by 35 feet.

The walls of the corridors have a base of Verde Antique Vermont green marble and wainscoting of 7 feet of Alabama Cream marble, with a cornice of 9 inches of South African mahogany. The floors are made of Grey Knoxville, Tennessee marble of one foot square blocks.

The exterior of the counters is made of the same marble as the side walls and supports the grill work, which is of brush brass and finished with opaline glass, mahogany pillars and cornice. The counters are of mahogany. The corridors are furnished with four glass endorsing desks, two solid mahogany writing tables and suitable chairs. There are four mahogany writing desks for the officials of the bank in the working space.

The Cashier's room is in the working space, is furnished handsomely and is 9 by 15 feet.

The President's room is near the Cashier's and well furnished. The rear part of the first floor has a gentlemen's waiting room—14 by 11 feet, clerks' room—8 by 11 feet and a Ladies' Reception Room 14 by 11 feet. These rooms are all handsomely furnished and each has its own toilet. On the same floor there are two coupon rooms, one public and one private telephone booth—with local and long distance phones.

The vault is 17 x 14 feet. It is made of concrete, 21 inches thick, lined with steel plates 1 1/2 inches thick and covered on the exterior with Alabama cream marble. Each department is separate. The bank vault has a steel safe with double combination locks, requiring two persons to open it. The lock box department has 400 lock boxes which can only be opened when the owner of the box and the bank officials are both present with their keys. The owner is the only person who has access to the box and a private room is given him to examine his papers. The boxes are free to patrons of the bank and the owner retains the key in his care. The inner doors of the vault are securely locked and the outer doors are 7 inches thick, having time locks with the latest improvements. The vaults were built by the York Safe and Lock Company. They are a combination of security, art and science. To the right side of the vault a marble stairway leads to the second floor, over the rear of the bank.

On the second floor there is a committee room—15x16 feet, a hall, a coat room and the Directors' room—21x17 feet. The Board Room is beautifully furnished. The mahogany mantle and Directors' table are worth a visit. The balcony on the second floor gives a charming view of the corridors and working space. The electric and gas fixtures are in keeping with the building and furniture and are made of brush brass.

The floors of the working space and rooms are concrete, covered with maple.

The building, the furniture, the fixtures and everything about the bank impresses the visitor with its usefulness, solidity, harmony and good taste.

The officers take great pleasure in having everybody come to see their new bank building. The bank took possession of its new bank last Thursday and business began in the new building last Friday, June 10. You will be cordially welcomed and shown through the new building. It will be a pleasant visit. Come and see it.

The Building Committee was Wm. McSherry, Esq., Donald P. McPherson, Esq., and Walter H. O'Neal, M. D.

The architect was Herman Miller. W. H. Johns was the general contractor.

The officers of the bank are:—Wm. McSherry, President; Thos. G. Neely, Vice President; D. P. McPherson, Counsel; E. M. Bender, Cashier; J. W. Kendlehart, Teller and Bookkeeper; H. C. Picking, Discount Clerk; Irvin L. Taylor, Paying Teller; Chas. W. Stock, Receiving Teller; Reuben Rupp, Janitor.

The Directors are:—Wm. McSherry, Lawyer; John A. Swope, Physician; Thos. G. Neely, Gentleman; H. P. Bigham, Gentleman; Robert M. Wirt, Bank President; D. P. McPherson, Lawyer; N. C. Trout, Physician; C. L. Longsdorf, Bank President; Walter H. O'Neal, Physician.

THINGS THAT WILL BUILD UP THE HERD

The following is what a man prominent in dairy circles has to say regarding the building up of the dairy herd:

In my experience of a good many years I have found that three essential rules should be kept in mind and adhered to as nearly as possible if the highest success is to be attained.

First and most important is to know the constitutional vigor. This may be known by the general appearance of the animal, which will be alert, vigorous and show general thrift. I give this first place because the next two qualities depend very largely on a good constitution. No animal can make good and economical use of feed without a strong digestive apparatus, good nerve force and strong heart and lung action.

The second point is to select for utility. This is where the practical business end of breeding comes in. In horse breeding, for instance, farmers in some sections have been chasing shadows to some extent by breeding trotting stock. This has resulted in lightweight, spindle legged stock of but little use for farm purposes. They have now realized their mistake and are looking for horses of 1,200 to 1,400 pounds weight, with good bone, muscle and strength.

The third consideration is beauty, which has a cash value. The extra care given attractive stock owing to the pride the owner takes in them will

A WELL REARED DAIRY COW. (By courtesy of Iowa State college.) usually yield a cash profit. Prospective buyers will be attracted by the animals showing the most style.

If one will study carefully the characteristics of the stock he has he can so mate them as to produce about what he likes, provided he has the constitution and uses a pure bred sire. In this way one can safely introduce quality and beauty. For instance, the Guernsey cow comes from a cross of Normandy and Brittany stock. The former were a large boned and musciated stock possessing great constitutional vigor, while the latter were bred more for quality and beauty. The cross produced a very desirable cow.

It goes without saying that if the rules above mentioned are adhered to strictly in dairy cattle breeding far better results will be secured than is generally the case in this line of work. The mistake is too frequently made in using any kind of sire—anything that will cause the cows to freshen. The best sire is none too good and is far cheaper in the long run.

Taking all the cows in the country together, the average yield is about 123 pounds of butter for each cow. This includes all kinds of cows kept under all sorts of conditions. It is probable that the average yield for each cow in the regular dairies of the country is not far from 130 pounds of butter in a year.

It is agreed that the cow that produces 200 pounds of butter in a year just about pays for her feed and the expense incident to housing and otherwise caring for her and getting the butter to market.

If a cow yields 250 pounds of butter in a year she has the value of 50 pounds to her credit. If she yields 300 pounds a year the profit from her is doubled and she is worth twice as much as the 250 pound cow. Increase the yield to 350 pounds and she increases still more in value and is worth three times as much as the 250 pound cow. It is strange that so few of such cows are to be found when they cost no more to raise than others.

The butter fat and oleo fellows have been having it out before a congressional investigating committee at Washington the past few weeks, and at the time of writing it is uncertain what the outcome of the hearing will be. The controversy has been precipitated anew because the oleo fellows—really the packing trust—want the tax on colored oleo removed so that they can realize a still larger profit by selling it under the guise of butter. The butter men contend, and rightly, that this is in reality an attempt to get money under false pretenses and in so far works an injustice to their business. The law in force governing the sale of oleomargarine levies a tax of 10 cents a pound on oleo colored to imitate butter, while the tax on the uncolored product is but one-fourth of a cent per pound, the consumer being allowed to color the oleo after purchase to suit his own taste. While the high price of food products is a live one, it is hardly so live as to justify the passage of a law which will enable the packing trust to palm off beef grease and cottonseed oil on a hungry public for what they are really not.

Growers of sweet peas in a good many sections had this favorite source of fragrant bloom well nigh ruined last season by the green aphides, or plant lice. These are sucking and not biting insects, and hence their ordinary poisons do not reach them. They must be killed by contact with some spray, and for this nothing is better than a solution made by steeping tobacco leaves or stems in warm water. This may be applied to the vines with an effective hand sprayer. If one treatment does not kill all of the lice, a second application should be given.

Inspections made at the different packing and slaughter houses of the country show that fully 2 per cent of all hogs killed are affected with tuberculosis. An interesting fact in connection with this state of affairs is that the outward and seemingly thrifty appearance of an animal is no guarantee whatever that it is free from disease. Investigations into the causes of the disease in hogs show the most frequent causes of infection to be the feeding on buttermilk from creameries, eating milk from tuberculous cows and feeding behind cattle affected with tuberculosis.

Grandma's Ride

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press.

Grandma Spooner was seventy-eight years old. She had been a farmer's widow for forty years and for the last fifteen had lived with her son Zadoc and his wife.

"She broke her arm." "Grandma, you are seventy-eight years old, and I'm afraid this is the end of things," said the doctor. "That's what I'm thinking myself," she replied. "Please prop me up in bed. I want to go over things a little, doctor. I haven't had much fun in this world. At the age of ten I fell off the barn and broke four ribs."

"Yes, I've heard so." "When I was twelve I chopped off one of my toes. At fifteen a horse ran away with me and broke my right leg. At seventeen I slipped on the ice and broke the other."

"Yes." "At twenty I was almost drowned in a mill pond. At twenty-two I married Moses Spooner. Doctor, Moses was a poke of a man. He could hardly keep out of the way of a haystack. He was always wanting to rest. I was almost glad when he died."

"Since you knew me I have had a bug in my ear, fallen down stairs, been bitten by a snake, hooked by a cow, blown up with kerosene, twisted my ankle, fell out of a tree and had various bones broken. This breaking my arm is about the last of me, ain't it?" "We will hope not, but—"

"Oh, talk it right out, doctor. You can't scare me none."

"As I told you, it's serious." "I'm feeling that way. I reckon my days are over, but I'm not complaining. Do you know, I never went to a circus?"

"You didn't?" "Never. I always had a broken leg or something when there was a circus, spelling school or party. I never went huckleberrying. I never skated or slid downhill. I never saw a mad dog or a balloon. I never went to a church picnic. I've always had broken bones on hand or been down with sickness. I ought to have some little fun in life, hadn't I? I ought to have seen a dog fight or something."

"Surely you had," replied the doctor. "and I am sorry for you."

"Then I want you to do something for me. I've been whizzing along all my life, and I want to go out of it on the whiz. I want Zadoc to go to town and hire one of them autos and take me for a ride, and I want you to fix me up for it. I've got to go, but I want to go having fun."

"You've got a fever, and it will increase it."

"I can't help it."

"Moving you in and out of the auto will be very painful."

"But I'm used to it. I tell you, doctor, I'm going to have some fun to end up on if I have to jump down the well. It's my due. I jest want to laugh good and hearty once before I go."

The doctor wrestled with grandma for the best of an hour, and then Zadoc was called in to decide. After listening to the arguments he said:

"Why, it looks all right to me. Seems as if mother ought to have some fun after all these years. She hasn't got any new bones to break."

The doctor put it off another day, and then, thinking that the worry was as bad as the fever, he gave consent. Zadoc went to town and hired an auto and chauffeur, and the broken woman was carried out with all due precautions and seated in it. She was in good spirits from the brandy the doctor gave her.

"I hope you ain't blaming me any, Zadoc," she said as the machine moved off.

"Not a mite, mother."

"You know I've got to be seventy-eight years old?"

"Yes."

"And you can't remember ever hearing me even giggle, can you?"

"No, mother."

"Always had broken bones or something to keep me from feeling good. You was going to take me to the circus two years ago, but I fell down the cellar stairs the day before."

"Yes."

"You was going to take me to camp meeting last year, but I run a rusty nail into my foot."

"So you did."

"And we was talking of going to a picnic next week, and I went and broke my arm."

"Yes."

"But I guess I've got pretty nigh the end, Zadoc. Is there a smile on my face?"

"Why, mother, there surely is."

"And I feel like giggling. Yes, sir, Zadoc, I believe I'm going to be tickled after all these years! You won't mind it, will you?"

"Not a bit, mother. Go ahead and grin and giggle and laugh."

"Then tell him to put on the whiz. It's great, Zadoc. It's grand. Don't you see me grinning. Can't you hear me giggling? Seventy-eight years old, and this is the first grin and the first giggle that I can remember!"

"Keep 'er up, mother. I shouldn't wonder if you'd live to be a hundred."

"More whiz, Zadoc—more whiz!"

And ten minutes later he said to the chauffeur:

"Get us back home—ma's dead!"

"You don't say!"

"Smiling to beat the band, but she's dead. Poor ma! She never had any fun till now, and this has whizzed the life out of her!"

The first navel orange tree of which there is any record was found growing on the north shore of the Mediterranean sea in the year 1505 by a monk, who wrote a description of the tree and fruit and painted a picture of it. Grafts of this tree were later taken to Spain and thence to South America, whence scions were brought to this country by an American lady in 1899, they being propagated in the botanical gardens at Washington. Because of this fact it is usually called the Washington navel.

Was at Last Rewarded by a Great Discovery.

The great scientist devoted twenty years of his life to travel and study for the betterment of humankind and was at last rewarded by a discovery that is today filling hundreds of homes with health and happiness. Hundreds of letters of thank are being received from every direction and while money is a much needed thing the scientist in an interview said: "I would gladly give every dollar I have and every dollar I ever expect to have if all people now suffering with stomach trouble, liver and kidney troubles understood the wonderful merits of Root Juice. It is a compound that heals and tones the blood making and blood-filtering organs. It creates a healthy appetite, prevents fermentation of food in the stomach and bowels, cleanses the system, stops bloating, belching, and heartburn. It removes all causes of constipation and kidney symptoms. In after effects of a gripe, when the general health is bad, Root Juice has a truly wonderful toning action on the whole system. The great remedy is sold for $1 a bottle at People's Drug store.
